The kickoff of the game between West Texas State and the Dominators of the Dalhart Army Air Field will take place at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon at Buffalo Stadium.

High school bands which will attend the contest include Amarillo, Pampa, Tucumcari, N. M., Hereford, Perryton, Shamrock, Canyon, Dalhart, Phillips, and Lamesa. Possibly other bands also will be present. At 2:30 p. m. the bands will clear the field for game preliminaries.

Sororities and other organizations will entertain ex-students informally. Kappa Tau Phi sorority will entertain with a coffee in the conference room of Dean Geraldine Green's office from 11 until 12. Gamma Phi will have a luncheon at the noon hour. Pi Omegas will serve coffee from 5:30 to 7 in Mrs. A. M. Meyer's home. Coffee will be served by an ex-student group in Miss Pauline Brigham's studio.

The Student Union Building will hold open house from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m. for all ex-students and band members who wish to visit it. Refreshments will be served.

John L. Hill Will Speak Thursday Night

Dr. John L. Hill, noted Christian layman of Nashville, Tennessee, will speak Thursday night under sponsorship of the Canyon Pastors' Association at the Baptist Church at 8:00 o'clock.

Dr. Hill is one of the most popular speakers in the South and out of a life of service as teacher, athletic coach, and now book editor for a large publishing house, he brings vital messages to his audiences. He is in great demand as a speaker at youth meetings, and is in Canyon as the guest of Dr. J. A. Hill and West Texas State College where he has spoken several times during the week of religious emphasis. His last address at the college will be at 11:00 today (Thursday) in the college auditorium, and the Thursday night address at the Baptist church is the only one at night for the general public. Canyon is honored by the presence of such a distinguished Christian layman and should hear him gladly.

Geo. Brasuel Is Home From Prison Camp of Japs, Tells Experiences

Local Boy Taken by Japs When Philippines Fall at Beginning of the war

Sgt. George Brasuel arrived at the home of his mother, Mrs. Hattie Brasuel, Sunday night after having been a Prisoner of War in the Philippines and Japan for 3½ years.

George looks well, having gained between 50 and 60 pounds since he was released as a prisoner on the surrender of the Japs.

Having been taken a prisoner on Bataan with the 31st Infantry Regiment, George was in the "March of Death." Before that he says that he had been subjected to much worse treatment than they received there. He had learned by that time a lesson tht he thinks helped to carry him through—that was to attend to what was happening to him, not to look at any atrocity that might be near him, to keep calm and above all to show no sign whatsoever of fear.

There is only one thing that he saw that the Jap ever had any respect for and that was for the lack of fear.

While a prisoner at Manila he and his group received help from the Catholic Church and the native Philippinos. The priests never failed to come. They showed no fear whatsoever of the Japs and when driven away were sure to reappear the next day. It was while here that George began to learn the value of money. A bribe of United States money could get so much for a prisoner that they needed that they wished eagerly for some money to come sealed in the cans of Christmas goods in the Red Cross packages. When captured, George made no effort to hide personal things. Other men in his group saved their watches and money by simply holding them in their hands. The Japs made no too careful check.

When asked what punishment he felt like dealing the Japs, George calmly and sincerely said, "The worst punishment I could wish for them would be to let me be in the United States and keep them in their Japan. They are too ignorant, too long imbued with brutally perfected discipline to ever know that punishment is not oppression."

Discipline in Japan today is the result of thousands of years of peoples being beaten and slapped into doing what a higher authority commanded. They are regimented until the most powerful civilian now had power and authority lower than the lowliest soldier.

George objected to being removed from Manila, but was taken out on the very last boat that left safely. He was taken to Fukuoka Camp No. 3, where he was kept until their guards abdicated upon the capitulation of Japan. With the guards gone the boys were on their own. Having heard that Americans were in Tokyo, George and a companion started there. On the 34 hour train ride they passed through all the cities of Japan that they had ever known as industrial cities. Without exception they lay in utter ruin, Tokyo included.

Fukuoka Camp No. 3 was a concentration of Javanese, Indian, British, Dutch, Canadian and Portuguese subjects together with the American. When the camp became predominately American, they were given favors, such as having a clock, that they had never had. In this camp they were fortunate in having a Navy Warrant Officer who had been among the first captured at the beginning of the war. He had studied the language seriously and could talk, read and write the Japanese language fluently. He was able to read all the papers and

Editorials

THE DANGER SIGN

Last week The News had an editorial on Hyphenated Americanism. This week we received concrete evidence of the dangers which are confronting America from this very line. First we received a pamphlet from CIO on "Hidden Profits." This so-called treaties charged corruption on the part of big industry in hiding their profits, and thereby paying huge and illegitimate profits to the stockholders. The conclusion was, according to CIO, that wages could be greatly increased and no one hurt.

This pamphlet went to thousands of workers who did not know that the corporations are carefully checked by the government, and any such swindle as charged by the writers, would subject the officers to heavy fines and prison terms. Uncle Sam gets tough with corporations which seek to swindle him on their income taxes.

A second booklet of 76 pages was received which dealt with the cost of living. On this point no two persons will agree. Government authorities will not agree with any one as to the extent of the increase of living cost. OPA claims that it has held prices in line; the Labor Department admits only a slight increase in prices, which has been offset by wage increases under the Little Steel formula.

Sidney Hillman, born in Russia and taking his economic ideas from Communism, is at the head of this propaganda. He is feeding that line of thought to CIO members. They are swallowing it without question.

Unfortunately Washington has given Hillman a free hand during the past 12 years, and his program of indoctrination is resulting in the strikes which pester the nation as it tries to recover from the war.

It is a dangerous situation, and one which must be carefully watched.

KNOW YOUR LIBERALS

Liberalism is currently identified by many people with liberal government spending. Aspiring politicians who dream up multi-billion-dollar social problems, automatically are classed as liberals. The wider and more costly the benefits, the greater the liberalism. As the spending programs of pseudo-liberals come before responsible public servants, a sense of caution and concern for good government tempers their action, and immediately the cry is raised that the "conservatives" are blocking the progress of humanity.

The quicker people get over the idea of automatically making liberals out of irresponsible spenders of public funds, the better off will be the cause of real liberalism. The true liberal today is trying with all his strength to help bring government spending under control. He is not thinging of the people's votes as much as he is of their savings, their life insurance, their government bonds. The popularity of schemes for total, regimented economic security at government (the taxpayers) expense, does not deceive true liberals who are carrying on an unpopular crusade to protect the solvency of the nation and to perpetuate representative government.

With a three hundred-billion dollar debt hanging over the country, it is high time the people learn who the real liberals are. If they follow the phoney liberals, they will forfeit their freedom, as well as the material and social gains of a couple of centuries. The first thing to remember is that real liberalism is not always popular.

The biggest political question in Texas: What is Pappy O'Daniel going to do? While he has not said definitely that he would run for Governor in 1946, we shall not be at all surprised. He can hardly be re-elected to the Senate, on the basis of his record of non-accomplishment. If he runs for Governor, we shall not vote for him, but certainly shall not be surprised to see him elected. Pappy still has the magic touch with the voters of Texas, regardless of what those of us who have always opposed him may think of him.

The big question in Canyon: What to do with the returning veterans, and other people who want to come here to live? Canyon could use 50 or more new houses, if the material should become available. But so far there is slight indications that it will be available soon.

A FOOL AND HIS MONEY . . .

Better Business Bureaus throughout the country report that swindlers who in average years have been mulching the public of more than $1,000,000,000 are out gunning for returning servicemen and their families.

Here are prospects of loot that bring a gleam of greed to the eyes of a legion of come-on artists and cold-blooded gyppers. On top of the millions of dollars which the veterans have on hand, they and their families possess more than $30,000,000,000 in war bonds and the government guaranteed loans in amounts up to $2,000.

These three practical means of self-protection against the likely loss of their money are given:

1—Read before you sign anything—and keep a copy.

2—Before you invest—investiagte.

3—Refuse to do business with strangers whose honesty cannot be checked.

Canyon may not be as fruitful a field for would-be swindlers as metropolitan areas, but we have no desire to see our returning heroes swindled on any deal in which they have invested their money.

14 Don't to Follow

Don't buy advertising space in an alleged labor sheet, Army and Navy publication, souvenir program, or anything else, unless it is approved by a reliable agency.

Don't assume that a Social Security account number necessarily identifies the holder.

Don't contribute money in response to a telephone call, no matter who the speaker says he is. Ask for the story in writing.

Don't believe the ticket seller at your door or on the telephone who tells you that all the money goes to the charity he names.

Don't sign a "completion certificate" for work on your house before you are sure that all the work has been done as it should be done.

Don't accept unordered merchandise.

Don't pay for a C. O. D. package before you know what you are paying for.

Beware of Strangers Who—

Offer you something for nothing.

Sell cemetery lots as "investments."

Tell you they have sold all but one.

Offer you a "sure cure" for anything.

Say they guarantee you a job for a fee.

Promise to resell what they sell to you.

Use flattery in order to sell you something.

Offer to lend you money though not licensed to do so.

Ask you to tell nobody about their offers to you.

Urge you to act quickly lest you miss your chance.

Are evasive or offended when asked for credentials.

Urge you to cancel one insurance policy and buy another.

Ask money for a charity without satisfactory credentials.

Offer free coupons or free club memberships or a stock bonus.

Tell you the books of the corporation are being closed tomorrow.

Promise you big returns for easy, pleasant work in your own home.

Warn you not to tell your bankers, for they will grab all the stock.

Tell you they are just passing through town and this is your only chance.

Offer you a "safe" investment with a sure return of 10 per cent or more.

Sell gadgets or pills for cutting down your costs of fuel, gasoline, or tires.

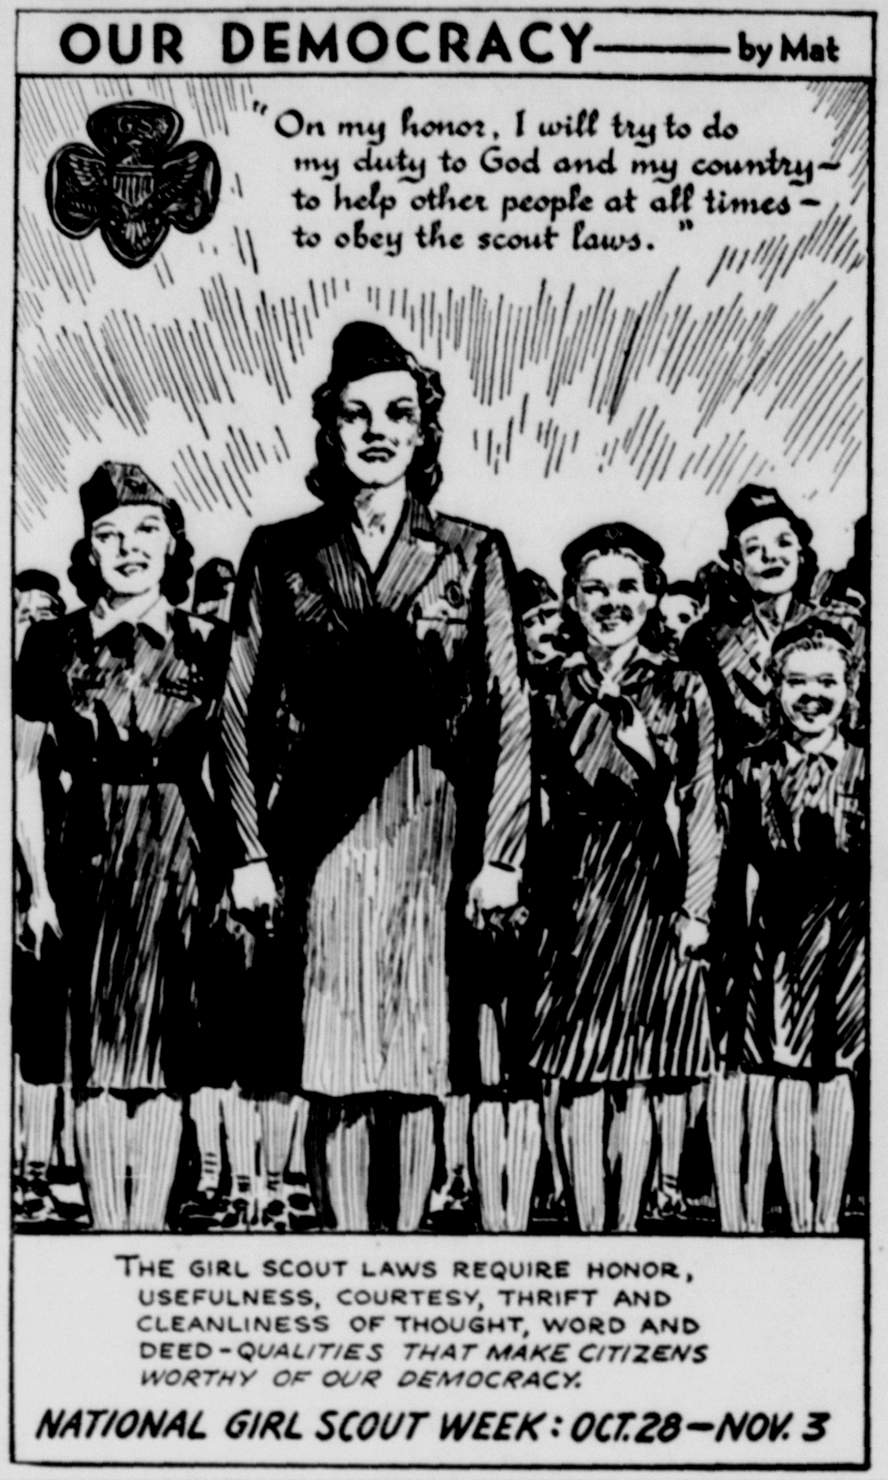
OUR DEMOCRACY——by Mat



"On my honor, I will try to do my duty to God and my country—to help other people at all times—to obey the scout laws."

THE GIRL SCOUT LAWS REQUIRE HONOR, USEFULNESS, COURTESY, THRIFT AND CLEANLINESS OF THOUGHT, WORD AND DEED-QUALITIES THAT MAKE CITIZENS WORTHY OF OUR DEMOCRACY.

NATIONAL GIRL SCOUT WEEK: OCT. 28—NOV. 3

The loudest applause to President Truman's Navy Day speech was his endorsement of compulsory military training. Maybe the huge crowd in New York does not agree in sentiment with the people of Canyon and thousands of other small communities; and then again it does. The endorsement of the President may go a long way toward preparing the nation for this program.

A LUCKY NATION

A striking fact of the tumultuous war years through which we have just lived, a fact which no one can truthfully deny, is that the people of the United States wanted for nothing. They kept more than twenty million autos running. Their homes remained brightly lighted and well heated. Their diet, in spite of griping, was nothing less than abundant. They had plenty of clothes and plenty of luxuries. The families of men in the service were, by and large, the only ones who had the vaguest notion of the horrible sacrifice and destruction being endured elsewhere. This is not a criticism on the home front. It it merely stating fact. It was because of continuing high living standards that we were able to turn in a war production miracle.

It is worth reflecting upon the reasons for the maintenance of such living standards.. Of course, there was rationing and price control to insure stability. There were also hundreds of thousands of miles of paved highways, railways, countless fleets of trucks, trains plains, ships; there were countless business organizations, manufacturing plants, and millions of individual producers topped by a mass distributing system of hundreds of thousands of retailers. All of this vast activity functioned with clock-like precision Temporary stresses and strains were absorbed without hitch.

Now that the war is over, we can begin to appreciate this intricate machine. What it did in war it can do on an even greater scale in peace, providing we don't underestimate its ability and turn to paternalistic government in a futile search for perfection.

"CIVILIZATION," A WORLD MENACE

General Marshall's final report on the war, his peace proposals for military preparedness, and his grim warning to "prepare or perish," should be "required" reading for every American. It calls attention to the development of 600-mile-an-hour planes, 50,000 pound bombs, and finally the ultimate in destructive power the atom bomb. If there should be another war, the enemy will attack with "supersonic" speed. Never again will distance protect this country from attack. Never again will this country have years to construct defenses after war starts. Our fate may be decided in days, hours, even minutes.

The cynics and the philosophers who think that the world will always be afflicted with war because war is part of normal human behavior, should study Marshall's report. If the horror it depicts is normal, then why bother with the claptrap of schools, universities, churches, "higher education" and all the paraphernalia of what we are pleased to call cizilization? Why drape distinguished personages of superior mentality in caps and gowns? Why send them out with little gold keys and Greek letter badges hanging from their vests advertising their intellectual capacities to advise and teach the rest of us? Why send them to international conferences where they join in the gibberish of "diplomacy," while the rest of us stand around awed by portentous stage settings? Why go through all this rigmarole if war and total destruction are inevitable at the end of the play?

Something is wrong somewhere. Normal people are kindly. They don't want to fight and kill. Different languages, different flags, different habits—these things are superficial. War comes because the leaders of groups and the leaders of nations fail to measure up to the responsibilities imposed upon them. So-called mad men never commit the world to war until a condition is established by supposedly sane men that creates a following for mad men. Are we capable of understanding the implications of General Marshall's words, or will we allow the perversion of science and higher education to destroy mankind?

Randall county citizens have responded to every call during the war. We have just put over the United War drive, which is a record in this part of the state. We now have the Victory Loan, which must not fail. Let's keep the record clean by putting over this Loan Drive in record time.

Less toe pressure gives quicker, smoother, sound-proofed stops. This youthful new Ford gives you more on every count. Today these cars are rolling off the production lines in limited numbers. New springing. Thinner leaves—and more of them—are used in these long, slow-action springs. They keep you on the level—assure a real luxury ride.

New extra-big brakes. They could stop a car twice the weight. These self-centering hydraulics give smooth, quiet stops with less pedal pressure.

Bigger savings on gas and oil. Four rings on each piston. Specially hardened inserts on both intake and exhaust valves. Dual automatic spark control suits the spark to the load—lets you burn standard grades of gas efficiently.

"Believe It or Not"

7-Lb. Motor Makes 120,00u Revolutions a Minute

An electric motor, which operates at record-breaking speed of 120,000 revolutions per minute, 65 times faster than the conventional motor used in the home washing machine or refrigerator, has been built and tested by General Electric. Motors of this type will be used for the grinding and drilling of essential parts of airplanes and other war equipment and will not be available for general use.

This new motor, rated at three horsepower, weighs only seven pounds, as contrasted with the conventional three horsepower motor which weighs 105 pounds. It is so small that the entire motor will fit into the palm of a person's hand and its rotor is scarcely larger than a man's thumb. The motor is water cooled, using about one-half a gallon of water a minute, and is equipped with an oil-mist lubricating type of bearing. Tests including a continuous run of eight hours, have proven its perfection.

"It's hard to realize speeds of 2,000 revolutions per second in a motor," D. H. Ware, motor engineer of the company, pointed out. "However, if the wheels of an automobile could be made to turn at the same speed, the auto would move at the rate of 10,000 miles per hour, or 165 miles per minute. This is about 14 times the speed of sound."

Typical Small U. S. City Served by 5 Councilmen

The typical small city of less than 5,000 population has five councilmen, who are paid $100 a year and are elected at large for three-year overlapping terms; the city owns and operates its water supply system, has 14 full-time paid officials and employees and spends $73,000 a year for the operation and maintenance of municipal services and for meeting debt charges.

Total expenditures of the average city were lower in 1943 than in the preceding year, and receipts from property taxes were larger. The typical city, according to the survey, has a long-term net debt of $98,000 which is 6 per cent less than the debt at the end of the preceding fiscal year. Earnings of city-owned utilities were larger in 1943 than in 1942, but revenues from licenses declined.

Thirty-seven cities, or 30 per cent of the total reporting, have 10 or less employees; 29 cities have from 11 to 15 employees; 30 cities have from 16 to 25 employees and 24 cities have more than 25 full-time employees—excluding school employes. Sixteen cities with annual expenditures in excess of $150,000 a year have an average of 40 employees which is more than double the average for all cities of 5,000 or less.

Vitamin C in Citrus

Fullest nutritive value is obtained when orange and grapefruit is served in whole sections, for in extracting juice a considerable amount of pulp and juice are left in the rind. Vitamin C can be saved in juice, however, by making sure all the pulp is out of the rind and then serving the juice without straining it.

A rich source of vitamin C is the rind of citrus fruits. The dried or candied product is commonly enjoyed for its flavor, but the vitamin has been destroyed. Citrus rind can be made more palatable by removing the white membrane, then serving it grated or thinly sliced in sauces, spreads, desserts, cookies or quick breads.

At least one vitamin C-rich food daily is the suggestion on the Basic Seven, the wartime nutrition guide. This vitamin is not stored in the body, and its daily inclusion makes healthy gums and teeth and helps one to avoid that tired feeling. When eaten in large amounts, raw or carefully cooked, a wide variety of fruits and vegetables are reported to be fair sources of vitamin C. Best substitutes for citrus fruits are tomatoes, raw carrots, cabbage, and green vegetables. Even the potato can be included in the list if it is baked or boiled with the jacket on.

New Territories

Stray corners of Brazil's rambling backlands are being marked off into federal territories. There are now eight territories, most of them created by the present Vargas government. The number of Brazilian states stands at 20, as the new territories have been carved out of existing states.

Six states have had their areas reduced in the redrawing of boundaries, but most of the new territorial land was sliced out of Amazonas, Mato Grosso, and Para— three states that made up more than half of Brazil. Mato Grosso alone gave up land to form all or parts of three new divisions.

Cultivated Weed

The low-growing leafy tampala plant from the Far East is merely a cultivated "sister" of the taller and less leafy common pigweed, red root, or "careless weed" which grows on farms, in barnyards, and along roadsides in almost every part of the United States. It is also related to the brilliantly colored cockscomb of the flower garden.

Indians of the southwestern United States have boiled and eaten the leaves of these native plants for years. They have gathered the small black shiny seeds and ground them into flour for breads and porridges.

German U-boats sank 33 ships in the Gulf of Mexico in 1942 and 1943.

You Can See Plains Museum in An Hour, or You Can Spend Months in Planned Studies

By BOONE McCLURE

The Panhandle-Plains Historical Society was organized in 1919 and chartered in 1923 for the purpose of collecting, restoring, and preserving historical and scientific data relating to the Plains region of the Southwest.

In 1929-1932 a campaign was sponsored to raise funds for the erection of a Museum building. The first unit of the Museum was begun September 1, 1932, and was completed and opened to the public in April, 1933. April 14, 1933, was the official day of the opening. The citizens of the Southwest contributed approximately $29,000.00 toward the construction of the first unit, and the Texas Legislature supplemented this with an appropriation of $25,000.

In 1936 the Texas Centennial Commission allocated $25,000.00 to the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society for construction of the basement of the second unit. In 1941 the Works Progress Administration approved a project for completion of the second unit and provided $20,000.00, which was supplemented by public donations in the sum of $15,000.00. A brick campaign produced approximately 250,000 brick, together with sand and gravel needed in the construction. In 1942 the Works Progress Administration granted $15,484.00, and public subscriptions have recently matched this amount by more than $6,000.00. In 1945 the Board of Directors began another campaign for the completion of the second unit, the framework for which was completed in 1942; satisfactory progress is being made in the drive to secure the needed $60,000.00 for the unit and the furnishings of that unit. Resumption of construction is now awaiting a more favorable labor supply.

The Museum has one of the largest collections of historical and scientific data in the Plains region of the Southwest. This Museum was the first State Museum to be erected in Texas. The Panhandle-Plains Historical Society is the second oldest organization of its kind in Texas, only the Texas Historical Society being older.

Since the Museum was opened in 1933, approximately 400,000 persons have registered as visitors, not counting vast numbers who have not registered. The collections and displays are very popular. Thousands of school students from over the Plains have visited the Museum since its opening. Whether the visitor be a casual observer, a scientist, or a student, the material in the Museum has high educational, scientific, and cultural value.

The collections and exhibits are many and varied, dealing with life and artifacts of white pioneers, historic Indians, Spaniards, prehistoric Indian cultures, archaeology, paleontology, and geology. The Panhandle-Plains region, with its eroded streams and canyons, contains rich deposits of fossil remains which tell the story of remote ages. Artifacts and handicraft help to reconstruct life of early men of the Plains. In the Museum is evidence of communial life of hundreds of years ago. On the other hand, students may observe the materials, the mineral ores, used for construction of the atomic bomb. The scientist and student may go back through the geologic periods and find in the Museum evidence of ancient animal and plant life.

One may walk through the Museum within an hour, noting casually the materials on exhibit. But to study and become familiar with any group or collection of exhibits, considerable time and repeated visits are required. Indeed, the Museum is a laboratory of history and culture. Texas and the Southwest offer not only the oldest but also the most colorful pages of our American history.

Buffs Held Tech in 12-6 Upset Saturday Night at Lubbock

Walter Schlinkman Turns Tide For Tech—Buff Band Is Impressive

LUBBOCK—In what was generally described as West Texas State's most impressive local appearance, the Buffaloes held the Red Raiders to a 12-6 score Saturday night and forced the Texas Tech mentors to call on Walter Schlinkman, who did not play in the first half, to wipe out a deficit and win the game.

The score by periods:

Texas Tech	0	0	6	6—12
West Texas	6	0	0	0— 6

The Buffs stopped the first Tech offensive and, on their second play of the game, caught the Raider backs flat-footed as Ech Hunter passed to Don Leach, who took the ball in the clear and raced for a touchdown. It was a 50-yard scoring play. Kenneth Glasgow's place kick for the extra point was wide.

Buffs Dominate Half

Alarmed, the Raiders opened up a sharp passing attack, and Robnett ripped off several long bains, but the Buffs were pounding at Tech's 31-yard line as the first quarter ended. They took the ball to the 12-yard mark before losing it on downs. Minutes later, Browder recovered a Tech fumble and the Buffs stormed back to the Raider 15-yard line before bogging down. Tech pushed back upfield as the first half ended with West Texas State leading, 6 to 0. In that half the Buffs gained 89 yards on passes to Tech's 42 and got 34 yards rushing to 36 for the Raiders. First downs were four for West Texas and five for Tech.

Between the halves, the well-dressed Buffalo Band marched impressively upon the gridiron and formed a double "T" before playing the Texas Tech alma mater. Then the Tech band marched out, formed "WTS" and played the West Texas alma mater. Both bands received long applause from the audience of about 7,000 persons. West Texas State's cheer leaders also were praised by many in the audience for their work before the west stand.

In the last half, Schlinkman went into the game and it was immediately evident that he tipped the play in favor of the Raiders. Alert, speedy, powerful, he was everywhere at once. Suddenly he leaped in front of one of Hunter's passes and raced 34 yards for the tying score. His place kick was wide of the posts.

Buffs Offensive Fades

In the fourth quarter, Tech was pressing and the tiring Buffs kept stopping their thrusts. But once more Schlinkman broke away for a 34-yard run, this time off his own left tackle. He failed to make the conversion. There was no more scoring, but the Raider pressure held the Buffs to zero yards net gain for the second half, and to zero first downs. Tech's first downs for the game totalled ten to the Buffs' four. Tech's yardage rushing was 125 to 34. Tech completed seven of 17 passes for 75 yards, while the visitors completed six of 14 for 79 yards.

Buffalo cripples went into the game to help achieve the upset score. Hap Rogers, Kenneth Glasgow, and Hoss Bledsoe showed up well despite handicaps, and Billy Greenfield could hardly be restrained from going back in after receiving a severe blow on the head.

The heat value of a ton of coal is equal to that of nearly 65 bushels of corn.

Dalhart Fliers Next Opponents

Dominators Lose to Amarillo AAF But Have Heavy Team

The Buffs will meet the Dalhart Army Air Field Dominators on Buffalo Field Saturday afternoon in the annual Homecoming game.

Last Saturday night brought defeat to the Dominators as the Amarillo Army Air Field defeated them 36-0 game. The Sky Giants were outweighed 15 pounds per man on the line and 12 pounds per man in the back field, but weight did not concern this ball game to a great extent.

The Buffaloes, after an exciting game with Texas Tech in Lubbock Saturday night, are ready to win a game this week. West Texas will be outweighed considerably for the home tussle, but will be rated over the Dominators. The Buffs gave the Sky Giants a good battle three weeks ago, when the Amarillo Field eleven came out with a 21-12 victory after they had thrown everything they had at the Buffalies.

Game time for the Dalhart-West Texas State tilt will be 3 p. m., Saturday, November 3.

Prexy Says:

Buffaloes Gamest Team in Texas; Never Gives Up!

Hats off to the gamest football team in Texas and to Coaches Miller and Nicklaus! It has not been my privilege to see our games but from every direction comes words of praise for the fighting spirit, the sportsmanship, and the all-round good playing of our team. Although scoring record has been heavily against us, the boys have never faltered for one moment; and I am taking this method of expressing my appreciation and that of the fans for this splendid exhibition of courage, unwillingness to quit, and all-around sportsmanship.

Also, I should like to compliment the band on its appearance, its snap, its performance. Mr. Truax and his co-laborers are developing a very worthy musical organization. To the cheer leaders, too, must go great praise. All of this pleases me very much as unquestionably it will do our school a lot of good. People will recognize these factors as evidences of institutional morale—a spirit of loyalty and cooperative effort.

Let those of us who cannot be a part of the above-named organizations pledge ourselves to the same fidelity to duty and to the same measure of cooperation and loyalty that characterize our football team, our band, and our cheer leaders. These are times that demand the best of all of us, so hats off again to our team and to all that contribute to its success.

"In this envelope, a 6-room house —no fooling!"

"Yep. That's what I said. A 6-room house . . .

"And a nice, quiet garden, with a hammock slung between two trees.

"The kind of place we've always dreamed of: a place that's ours, a place that's a part of us, a place for the kids to grow up in, away from the city streets and the noise.

"For this envelope is full of Victory Bonds. 'E' Bonds that we're going to keep until maturity, when they'll pay us back four dollars for every three we invested.

"And we're going to go on buying more all the time.

"It's surprising how quickly the money mounts up, if you've just got a little resolution and stick-to-it-iveness. We could ease off on our Bond buying, of course; but don't worry—we're not going to!

"That's why, about ten years from now, a lot of folks are going to call us lucky! Folks that may not have made out so well.

"But, shucks—it won't be luck. It's just common sense. And the little bit of gumption it takes to resist the small temptations to spend money instead of saving it—in Bonds!"

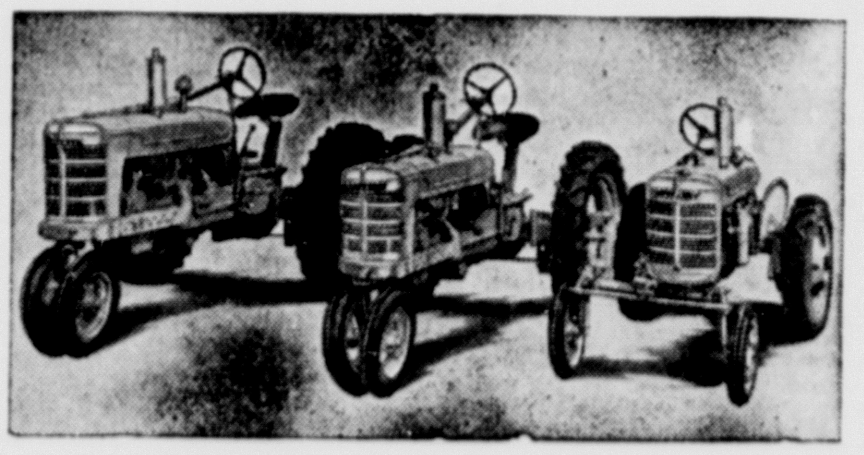
The Right Equipment



There is no question about INTERNATIONAL being the kind of farm equipment that you need on your farm.

Ask the scores and scores of farmers of Randall and surrounding counties to tell you of the splendid results which they have secured from International. They will tell you that they could not have broken all food production records of Randall county during the war without this equipment.

We must still continue to raise record crops. People throughout the world will starve unless farmers continue with their fine food production program.

This is where we come in: We want you to consult us about your farm equipment needs for the coming year. If we shall be able to get you new machinery, naturally we will desire INTERNATIONAL.

If we will not be able to supply your needs with new equipment, then our big, well equipped shop will work over your present equipment during the winter months and have it ready for you to go in the spring.

We want to be of service to you, and request that you see us as soon as possible so as to plan our repair program to fit your needs.

Double Ring Wedding Ceremony For Margaret Nicholas and Loyd Devin

Miss Margaret M. Nicholas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Nicholas, and Thomas L. Devin, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Devin, of Tulia, were united in marriage Saturday afternoon, October 27 at 2:00 o'clock in the Methodist Church, with the Rev. C. C. Armstrong, pastor, officiating at the beautiful double ring ceremony.

Large baskets of white pompom chrysanthemums and fern, flanked by branched altar candelabra holding white tapers decorated the altar. White baby mums sprinkled the fern entwined chancel rail. Large white bows marked the pews.

Miss Mattie Devin and Miss Catherine Devin, sister of the bridegroom lighted the tapers as Mrs. K. E. Frieze at the console of the organ played "Indian Love Call."

Miss Olive Schramm sang, "Ah, Sweet Memory of Life," Herbert and Because," d'Hardelot, for the pre-nuptial music.

Following the cutting of the cake by the bride and groom, Miss Catherine Devin served the cake while Mrs. W. A. Blankenship of Amarillo poured coffee. Guests served themselves white mints. Mrs. W. F. Talley of Tulia, presided at the guest book.

on many occasions heard broadcasts in the headquarters offices where he would be called as interpretor. Newspapers reported accurately our advances, giving names of ships, numbers of ships involved and even revealing specifications of our airplanes. These messages were grapevined to all inmates of the prison.

As to the work, they were all employed in the steel industry. They were herded and driven like cattle to the work train about 3-4 mile from the camp; then they rode about 5 or 8 miles; then George and his work group walked 2 miles farther. They worked then about 10 hours and were brought back to camp. He missed only 2 days until August 8 when he was given 2 days off because of a sore on his elbow. Ordinarily they were supposed to have 3 days off a month.

When asked if they were fed 3 meals a day, George replied, "We were fed 3 meals a day." Then added, "That looks awfully good on paper." We were left to make our unpleasant deductions from that.

Throughout all his experiences he brought 2 articles: a comb, which he didn't need as his head was kept shaved, and the top of his mess kit which he used as a cup for a drink many a time that he was beaten because he had secured water for himself. Until he was given good old GI's again he had kept his original web belt. But in the excitement of having all good clothes again, he dropped his belt and forgot to get it.

His factory was slated for one of the atom bombs, they learned in Tokyo, but an overcast sky gave them the incendiaries that one of the 29's carried. One American and 2,000 Japs were killed by it. That is another of those factors that George classes as his luck.

He is now receiving letters that would have made him feel that he was in heaven if he could have had them then.

Although George is eager to see all his old friends, he says that home is just so good that he cannot stay away from it very many minutes at a time.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Roberts of Wellington visited her sister, Mrs. Robert Parsons and daughter last week. Mr. Roberts is recently discharged from the armed forces and is contemplating coming to West Texas State to school.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Miller and children of Plainview visited in the home of her mother, Mrs. Elzie Price, Monday. They were enroute to California on a vacation trip.

Mr. and Mrs. George Master are in the Panhandle from their home in California where they moved several years ago. They lived in Carson county before moving to Canyon, and are visiting friends and relatives in both places.

Mrs. Robert Rockenbaugh is visiting this week in the parental Mark Foster home. She will leave this week end to meet her husband in Greensboro, N. C., but will visit with his parents in Columbus, Ohio, while enroute.

Student Duels Highlighted Life at Heidelberg

Famed in song and story, including chapters by Mark Twain and Longfellow, Heidelberg university before the war had an enrollment of 1,570, nearly a fourth of them women. Eight German universities had larger student bodies than Heidelberg, but none was so cosmopolitan in past centuries, or had more loyal alumni.

Headlined features of student life at Heidelberg were the student duels. There were fencing bouts among the five rival corps, each with distinctive caps. A facial scar became a badge of honor. The duelling "grounds" were near the Scheffelhaus, at the north end of the old arched bridge in the quaint residential section of Heidelberg. One scene of "The Student Prince" was laid in the beer garden of the Scheffelhaus. Most popular with the students was the tuneful and rollicking drinking song from the musical comedy.

To the south the old moated castle of Heidelberg stood out from its mountainside setting, 330 feet above the river. It was an aggregation of fortresses and palaces of past centuries. The castle was largely destroyed in 1693 by the French soldiers of Louis XIV. The castle was noted for the great Tun in the cellar, a cask that could store over 50,000 gallons of wine.

Model $21 House Gives Mexican Indians Ideas

If someone offered you $21 on condition that you go out and buy yourself a house with it, you might not appreciate the humor of the situation. Yet to an Indian family of Ixcatepec, a valley village 60 miles from Mexico City, $21 actually represents the price not of just a home, but a model home at that.

When the Camohmila Rural Reconstruction center built such a model house, all of the 25 families of Ixcatepec came to gaze at it in amazement. Three rooms of adobe, with red-tiled roof, it had a kitchen with a chimney, a bathroom, built-in cupboards, windows and a wooden floor. But not one of those Indian families could afford $21!

However, points out the Inter-American magazine, the experiment proved that a better way of life was possible. The Indians began to improve their own homes by putting in windows, dividing the customary one large room into two, adding a kitchen and a rudimentary bathroom.

Mental Cases Were Problem

In the 1790s, a large number of mentally ill persons constituted a problem in the various communities. The belief in witchcraft and possession, and in the depravity of mentally ill persons, still lingered in the emotional attitude toward them even though it was no longer openly declared. It was generally believed also, even by physicians, that many of the mentally ill were insensitive to cold and deprivations, and that they were extraordinarily strong. Consequently they were frequently confined, even while at their own homes, in attics or cellars, or especially constructed receptacles, with little light and no heat, without proper clothing, bedding, or toilet facilities. Cords and chains were used to restrain them, and the attention given to their physical health, food, cleanliness and exercise was scarcely that given to domestic animals.

Historical Note

Marching in pursuit of retreating Prussian soldiers in 1806 the French were received with open arms by the Germans. The people even turned their own wounded out of doors to make room for their French guests. On October 26, the French General Davout reached Berlin. The inhabitants, headed by their mayor, came out to meet him. Berlin newspapers lavished adulation on the victors and abuse on the beaten army. Two days later Murat's cavalry overtook the remnant of Prince Hohenlohe's army near Prenzlau north of Berlin and the Prince was induced to accept unconditional surrender.

Cake Make-up

One of the popular beauty aids is cake make-up. Properly applied, this cosmetic gives the skin a soft, petal-like surface and covers minor blemishes. Like any other type of make-up, this kind should be applied only to a clean skin. A thorough face-wash with a good lather should always precede its use, and follow its removal. Rinse off the soap and dry the face thoroughly before putting on the make-up. Girls with very dry skin will get more flattering results if the make-up is applied over a cream or liquid powder base.

Mocking Bird

"The mocking bird is one of the most highly developed singers and has one of the broadest repertoires," said National Audubon Official Bert Hartwell of Miami, Fla. To be sure, the Audubon official admitted, the mocking bird isn't above lifting a few trills from his feathered neighbors, but he scrambles the lot, interpolates a generous portion of strictly original cadenzas and weaves them into a distinctive song all his own. "You can't mistake it for the song of any other bird," Hartwell maintained.

College Gains In Enrollment

Dean's Report Shows Comeback Trend—Ages Of Faculty Averaged

West Texas State instructed a total of 2,366 persons in 1944-45, according to the Dean's annual report to President J. A. Hill, a gain of 201 over the preceding year. This figure included correspondence students and the Summer Session. The Amarillo Center had a registration of 363 students, representing a gain of 54 over the previous year. There were 57 graduate students and 435 correspondence students.

A study of the faculty shows that for the calendar year the average age of male instructors was 52, and that of faculty women 47. Many of the younger men were in military service.

More than half the faculty members were born in Texas. Six were born in Oklahoma, three in Tennessee, and two each in Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, Alabama, and Georgia. Parents of 48 instructors were born in Texas, 23 in Tennessee, 16 in Alabama, 6 in Georgia, and Canada, Czechoslovakia, England, France, Sweden, and Switzerland were represented.

In the training of faculty members, the institutions attended included West Texas State, University of Texas, Peabody College for Teachers, Columbia, Colorado College of Education, T. C. U., and the University of Missouri, in this order.

In 1944-45, the faculty traveled 75,000 miles in making addresses and otherwise representing the college in this region. The Dean's report also lists many writings and offices held by faculty members.

The college film service had 126 programs between March and August, 1945, with 3,097 persons attending.

There were 17 lyceum offerings.

Outstanding developments during the year included the West Texas State College Foundation, the launching of the chapel building campaign, organization of the Panhandle Personnel Association, and opening of a drive to finish the annex to the Panhandle-Plains Museum.

NEAT TRICK

Several men were traveling by train. Presently one produced a large fruit cake, which he devoured greedily.

Time passed. Suddenly he began groaning and doubling himself up and straightening out again. When this had gone on for some time, a friend asked him:

"Smatter, Jim?"

"That cake I ate," groaned the sufferer. "It had nuts, and I think the missus forgot to shell them."

"Gosh!" said his friend. "And can you crack 'em just by bending?"

Firearms Brought From War Zone To Be Registered

A representative of FBI was in Canyon Saturday and gave warning that all automatic firearms must be registered. He pointed out that many veterans had brought machine guns and other automatic firearms from the Pacific and Europe. Should these guns fall into the hands of gangsters, lives might be lost.

Such firearms described as: Firearms of the automatic type, such as machine guns, sub-machine guns, or any type of gun from which a number of shots or bullets may be discharged with one continuous pull of the trigger.

The National Firearms Act provides a penalty of a fine not to exceed $2,000, or imprisonment not to exceed 5 years, or both, for violation of the act.

Those having such guns must write to the Bureau of Internal Revenue, Box 5566, 583 U. S. Terminal Annex Bldg., Dallas, Texas.

BOILED PENANCE

Pat and Mike, having been to confession, had to do penance by walking several times up and down a steep hill with their shoes filled with peas. After they had done so several times, Pat said to Mike:

"Mike, how it is ye can walk so aisy an' niver a bit do ye complain of yer feet being sore?"

Congress Names Six Candidates

McDonald and Guthrie Are Nominees for President

Meeting Monday, October 29th, for the first time this year, the Student Faculty Congress nominated officers for president and vice-president of the student body.

Mr. T. J. Cole began the meeting by reading the constitution of the organization.

Ray McDonald and James Guthrie were selected to be candidates for president. For vice-president, the council nominated Geraldine Small and Bill Davis. Valeta Haines was elected secretary-treasurer and Malcolm Gunter, parliamentarian.

After the discussion of other business pertaining to the school and assembly programs, the meeting was adjourned.

IS EVERYBODY READY?

Are all of you ready for that free bus trip to Hereford? Just think! As many of us can go as the buses can haul.

There will be a big crowd from here so let's really put out some good long yells for those Eagles. All during the game keep yelling and rooting as loud as the whole town of Hereford does.

Let's show our appreciation to the principal, superintendent, and bus drivers by being well behaved on the bus. Don't tear the buses up and do as the bus drivers ask you to do.

So come on all of you! Let's go, have a wonderful time, put some good yells over for the team, and by all means, be good!

—by Martha Jean Avent.

PICK IT UP!

Hey kids! Since Mr. Cole has asked us all to help around the building picking up papers and trash, don't you think we could? Instead of throwing our hamburger and candy wrappers on the sidewalks and ground just walk over and drop them in the trash barrel. It couldn't take much more energy than just dropping them.

C. H. S. looks fairly neat but it could look better with little or no effort at all. Let's all get busy and make our clean-up campaign a success.

Speakin' of gettin' along well with strangers—hmmm, that Richard Walters went to town last Friday at Dalhart. (By the way, Alice Pierce didn't do bad either.) He even made plans for this comin' Saturday with a certain cutie.

There's a saying "the early bird gets the worm," so I guess that's why Sue Ann Colwell has already tagged Marvin Fite for a Sadie Hawkins' date. (No reflection, Marvin.)

Coming back from the Dalhart game certain people got well acquainted. Outstanding among these couples were: Joanna Haines and Jerry Bailey, Ema Gene Zachry and Harold Jay Prichard, Sue Dickerson and Don Hickman, and Fay Dickerson and Jerre Inman.

Hepcats State Ideal Whistlebait Quality

Are you an all-round boy or girl? If you measure up to these standards, you must be out of this world! Yours truly searched Canyon High and found these different opinions of what counts most in an all-round girl or boy.

These people think the most outstanding trait for a girl to have is:

"She's got to be able to cook. Also, she must be sympathetic, and look to me as her superior."—Mr. Cole.

The girls thought these points were what counted most in a boy:

"Neatness and a good personality, nice clothes and cleanliness."—Martha Wilson.

"He must have a good personality."—Zonelle Gregg.

These are only a few of the opinions in our high school, but keep them in mind when you choose class and school favorites.

Officials Confirm Canyon as Host

Walter Travis, Dumas, was elected chairman of district I-A for the coming year in the meeting of coaches held Monday night at 8:00 in the Rose Room of the Amarillo Hotel. Dr. Speer presided as temporary chairman.

During the evening the coaches discussed plans for the coming year of sports. It was decided that Canyon would be host for the district basketball tournament to be held February 15-16.

Schools represented were Hereford, Friona, Tulia, Dumas, Dalhart, Dimmitt and Canyon.

Messengers Portray Melancholy Omens

Whooo—the black cats and the witches meowed and hissed. What a night! The owls hooted mournfully as they sat on the tombstones in the cemetery. That's what the students told me while they were courtin' (or did they?) Well, some of them did!

Hallowe'eners dressed in weird costumes and wearing grimacing masks sent shivers up one's spine! Mystic lights from pumpkin jack o' lanterns also lent an enchanting air to the occasion.

If you enjoyed being scared stiff and just can't get over it, remember next Hallowe'en is only a year away.

Superintendent J. B. Speer announced Friday that after Monday, October 29, students may enter the building at 8:30 and report to their first period classes for a study period until 9:00 when regular classes begin. From 11:55 to 12:50 is the noon hour. School dismisses at 3:30 p. m.

FHT Completes Activity Plans

Homemaking Girls Design Sadie Hawkins Function

Members of the FHT met in the home economics department October 24, for a program and a business meeting. The group decided to have a "Sadie Hawkins" dance, receiving as their guests the Canyon High School students and each FHT member bringing not more than three outside guests.

Pauline Ruthart, Cheri Kilchriste, Frances Gooch, and Sue Dickerson were appointed as a committee to check on the time, place, and date of the social.

Various committees were appointed by Fannie Alice Pierce, president. An arrangement committee is made up of Mabel Graham, Fay Dickerson, Jo Ann Bullard and Janie Forrester; scrapbook committee, Sue Ann Colwell, Mary Ann Parker, Geraldine Small, June Jennings, and Ema Gene Zachry; community service committee, Wanda Edwards, Anita Johnigan, Louise Prichard and Sue Gillispie.

Publicity agents are Ruth Lill, Frankie Sneed, Betty Schuette, Peggy La Loge and Shirley Harrison; financial affairs committee, Dorothy Butler, Laverne Hinders, Chloe Ann Black and Pauline Seales; social committee, Juanita Avent, Gladys Lowe, Louise Tucek and Valeta Haines.

Club dues and suggestions for a booth at the Hallowe'en carnival were discussed.

Refreshments were served in the dining room, after which Charlene Pyeatt sang "Let the Rest of the World Go By" and "On the Atchison, Topeka and the Santa Fe," and Franky Sneed sang "Indian Love Call."

Espanoles Choose Annual Leaders

Rita Gunter was elected president of the Spanish class in their first meeting, Wednesday, October 24th, with Mrs. Knott, sponsor, presiding. Other officers include: Mable Ann Graham, vice-president; Frances Standley, secretary-treasurer; and Dorothy Sanders, reporter.

Red and yellow were selected to be club colors. For the booth at the carnival, the club chose the cake walk.

Members decided to meet once a month during regular class period at first and, if necessary, change and meet every other week.

For the remainder of the meeting the members discussed the carnival booth and the matter of club dues.

Ring! Ring! There's that darn alarm clock again! Time to stop typing and only three lines typed, plus about a dozen mistakes.

That teacher must have run the clock up, because that couldn't have been five minutes. She wants our grades, too, (groan). Can't you just see that report card? Now why such a low grade? Of course it couldn't be because of speed.

Oh! well! Why worry about last time? Let's look to the future. Whoops! Another speed test, (How I hate those things).

Get set, ready, g—. Wait a minute—the clock won't run! Oh me! The delay made an old man of me! Go! Oh, oh, caught me unprepared. Tap, tap, tap, ring! There's that bell again! Oh well, isn't this where we came in?

Etudents Launch Sales Campaign

The class is divided into two groups, the Reds and the Blues. Betty Ann Miller is chairman of the Blues and Bill Davis is chairman of the Reds. Progress made by each team is registered on a large thermometer chart, and at the close of the sales the losing team is to give a party for the winners.

Dwight Allison of the Curtis Publishing Company addressed the class on October 24 when plans for the campaign were completed. He explained that the juniors make 50% on the Curtis Publications: The Saturday Evening Post, Ladies' Home Journal, Jack and Jill; and 30% on all other magazines.

Running for two weeks, the campaign will close November 7.

Grade Notes

Carol Lynn Turned withdrew from Mrs. Collins's first grade and will attend an Amarillo public school.

Mrs. W. T. Collins was called out of town at the death of her brother who lived in Ringgold, Texas.

Mrs. Roscoe Davis's second grade celebrated the birthdays of Sara Jo Hickman and George Thomas, Friday, October 26. Mrs. J. B. Hickman and Mrs. Jesse Thomas served refreshments.

To honor the Navy men who gave their lives in service the Canyon Grade School sent yellow and white chrysanthemums to Corpus Christi where the flowers were strewn on the gulf.

Officers of the Nature Study Club in Mrs. Cousins's fourth grade are Nancy Bolton, president; Billy Graham, vice-president; and Gloria Waggoner, secretary.

In signing the Jap surrender document, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, played a dual role: he signed for Texas and the United States.

Canyon High School Eleven Edges Conference Gridiron Rivals 7-0

Long, Abbott, Wright Are Combination That Clicks

Coming to life about midway in the second quarter, the Canyon Eagles stampeded down the field to beat the Dalhart Wolves 7-0.

Billy Abbott fading back to the Eagles' 30, unable to find a receiver, ran the ball up the field for 78 yards only to be stopped on Dalhart's two-yard line. Wright crashed over for the marker and Abbott passed to Long for the extra point.

When the Wolves returned after the second half, primed for vengeance, they piled up yardage but stalled after two first downs and the ball went over to the Eagles. With the lead see-sawing back and forth, until the middle of the fourth quarter, the Wolves threatened to score. But the goal line stand of the Eagles gave them possession of the ball on their own ten. Wright pulled the game out of the fire by plunging to the Eagles' 20.

As far as individual performances went, the whole starting team did well, but the work of the line was especially outstanding. Among those are Bible, Wall, and McDonald, guards; McDuff, half-back, and Burtz, end.

This letter was received from Harry C. Hickerson, a graduate of 1941, who is stationed at Haneda Air Strip in Tokyo:

"Dear Sponsor,

Just a line to ask you to tell all the kids 'hello.' It seems like it's been forever since I last walked down the halls of Canyon High. I saw another Canyon boy down at Manila about a month ago—Ray Bosley—you probably remember him as Talmage Bosley. I keep meeting him practically everywhere I go—I saw him at San Antonio, then at Mobile, Ala. and then Manila, P. I. I expect to see him up here any day.

This last move has really been a change of climate for me. It's actually cold here—what a relief after being down on the equator in New Guinea.

Heard that Leroy Wooten was on his way home. Would you tell him 'hello' for me if he should happen around?

I'm sending you some Japanese postcards. Thought you might like to see them.

Guess the Eagles are well into the football season by now. I wish I was back! What I wouldn't give to see a good football game right now!

Must close for now. Goodbye.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS AND THE GREAT SOUTHWEST

"What Makes a Texan Tick?"

Continued

If one would understand why a Texan is like he is, it would be remembered that Texas has a history all its own. For Texas has been under six flags: the banners of Spain, France, Mexico, the Republic of Texas, the Confederacy and the United States. Texas was freed from Mexico more than a hundred years ago by bold, adventurous men from other States—some of whom had "left their country for their country's good." The expression "Gone to Texas" (sometimes expressed "G. T. T.") once was in voge in other states as the explanation for some man's sudden departure.

It is related that a newcomer to Texas became involved in a difficulty and was advised by a lawyer to leave. He said, in amazement, "But I'm already in Texas, ain't I?" At the outbreak of the Texas War for Independence, a Tennessean was galloping along and a friend asked, "Where you going?" He replied "To Texas—to fight for my rights."

The most sacred spot in Texas is the Alamo where one hundred and eighty-two men, including Travis, Crockett, Bowie and Bonham refused to escape or surrender but fought to the last man against the hordes of the dictator, Santa Anna. "Thermopylae had her messenger of defeat; the Alamo had none." At Goliad, a Texas force under Fannin, facing artillery and overwhelming numbers, surrendered and then was massacred. At San Jacinto, the furious Texans, under Sam Houston, shouted, "Remember the Alamo! Remember Goliad!" and in 20 minutes, Santa Anna's army was shattered; the tyrant himself was captured next day, and the freedom of Texas had been won.

For 10 years, Texas was a republic, maintaining a navy, sending and receiving ambassadors, then voluntarily entered the Union by a treaty under which the right was reserved for Texas to divide itself into five States if it desired.

To these traditions, Texans in World War II have added new and glorious luster at Salerno, in France, in the islands of the Pacific, above the clouds and on the sea; wherever a story of American heroism has been written in blood and flame, there you will always find Texans.

Texas has its own legends and myths, Pecos Bill, the greatest of cowboys; Gib Morgan, the Paul Bunyan of the oil fields; Strap Buckner who wrestled with the devil. Texas has its ballads, its tall tales and jokes; its official State song, "Texas, Our Texas"; and almost its own national anthem, "The Eyes of Texas," and its own banner, the Lone Star flag.

T. C. U. Dean of Music Is Visitor

Dr. T. Smith McCorkle, president of the Texas Association of Schools of Music, visited West Texas State Saturday and was a guest of Dr. Wallace R. Clark.

The association assists the State Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools in an advisory capacity in matters affecting music standards and credits.

Baptist Sunday School Makes New Record

Superintendent Virgil Henson announces that the Sunday School of First Baptist Church in Canyon broke all previous monthly average records in October with an average of 410. Previous high for a month was 357 made last June, and the high before that was 340 made last March. Thus three times in 1945 a new high monthly average has been reached, and parts of the building have been filled to capacity, while other parts were none too large. In a few instances members had to sit just outside the class room doors to hear the lesson.

A clinic for officers and teachers was held last week with about fifty people participating. The school is fully departmentized with seven complete units meeting every Sunday morning, each with its own superintendent and corps of teachers and other workers. Mr. Henson reports that the Canyon Sunday School is one of about 800 Standard schools among the 24,000 Southern Baptist Sunday Schools, and that the best Bible teaching ever done at the church in Canyon is being done now. Plans are being made for many more whom he hopes to see enrolled in coming months.
